Successful Homecoming On Hilltop

By Bill Mohr

Success! The word that will describe Western's 50th anniversary Homecoming completely. Success on the athletic field, the parade, Homecoming decorations, and all the other activities of the weekend.

Saturday afternoon, October 20, will not be just another Saturday in the record book of Western. It was on this day that Western scored a decisive victory over its sister school Eastern on the 50th anniversary of both schools. This victory typical of Western's overall standing, ended a two year Homecoming victory famine.

Spirit Obvious
The Western spirit was obvious throughout the week. The bonfire, parade, the Homecoming chapel, and dances were a tremendous success. At all times the conduct and sportsmanship of the players and students of this fine institution were above reproach.

The Homecoming parade, the largest and finest ever, was symbolic of this memorable occasion. The Cherry Country Life Club float won first place with the Arts and Crafts Club placing second. The best decorated Dormitory was the Rockhouse. Potter Hall placed second in this contest.

Shirley Barnes, Queen
The highlights of half-time were the marching bands of both schools and the Coronation of Shirley Barnes of Beaver Dam as Homecoming Queen. Miss Barnes was crowned by Dr. Robert Martin, state superintendent of public instruction. Dr. Martin is a graduate of Eastern. Miss Barnes' attendants were Jane Lovell of Morganfield and Phyllis Robinson of Hazard. Their escorts were Bill Goldsmith of Elizabethtown, Don Woods of Hopkinsville, and Lynn Shanton of Bowling Green.

Morrow Band To Play For Military Ball

Buddy Morrow

Buddy Morrow and his Band of Tomorrow will play for the Twenty Third Annual Military Ball on Friday evening December 7. Morrow's band is classed among America's leading bands and his records have included "The Man With the Golden Arm", "Dragner", and "Night Train".

Versatility is the keynote of the Buddy Morrow Band. This outstanding quality, combined with the finest music, explains why the band now holds "Biggest crowd of the year" marks in various ballrooms throughout the country. Morrow knows what the crowd wants and the outfit plays it - slow and sweet or fast and furious.

Top crowd Pleaser
Morrow is acclaimed the greatest trombonist of the present day. Vocals are deftly handled in the

$120,000 Heating Plant Project Nears Finish

By VICTOR T. BEACH

After taking a guided tour through the heating plant here at Western, (guided by Emmitt Walton, plant superintendent), you get the feeling that you have just witnessed something big in operation. One sees the new 600 horse power boiler that will soon be in operation, at a cost of $120,000, supplying us with heat and the necessary superheated steam which heats our hot water. This new boiler will take care of Western's present needs and six additional major buildings which will be constructed in the future. One must realize that a lot has gone into making this more and more efficient operation the reality it is today.

Built in 1927
Our heating plant started from its present site, and was put into operation in February, 1927. The architect for the building was Captain Brent Davis; designing engineer for heating was Wallace Hoeling. The boilers and machinery were installed by P. H. Myer of Louisville. The plant contained two 200 horse power Henry Vogt water tube boilers with Detroit under-fired stokers using egg or nut coal, which came from Western Kentucky coal fields which was delivered to us in hopper cars by Louisville and Nashville Railroad.

Our first heating plant Superintendent was J. Porter Hines, mechanical engineer, a man of 30 years experience, prior to his coming to Western, as river pilot and engineer on steamboats operating throughout the Ohio river valley. He is a native of Warren County, born in Bowling Green in March, 1878. He is a brother of the famed Duncan Hines. Mr. Hines was put on a change of work status effective January 1, 1956, then at the age of 77 he had given 28 years of exemplary service to Western. The School said, "Porter Hines has been one of the most valuable and respected employee any college could have. For 28 years he has filled a position of responsibility to the complete satisfaction of the institution. His change of work program, while closely akin to retirement, means that Western will continue to use his help and advice."

Plant Expands
As Western expanded, the heating plant had to expand thus making the boilers obsolete, and another

New Fire Hydrants To Be Added To Campus

President Kelly Thompson this week announced that the contract for improving water lines on the campus at a cost of $21,000 had been awarded.

Anticipated additional expenditures will increase the cost of the project to $30,000, Pres. Thompson said.

Work on the extension and modernization of water lines on College Heights will begin on Nov. 19, according to J. G. Crawford, owner of the Crawford Construction Co., Mayfield, Ky., which was awarded the contract for the project.

The new project which will cost approximately $21,000 will give Western complete fire protection. The seven new fire hydrants, enlargement of existing water mains and installation of new mains will be installed according to recommendations by Bowling Green's Fire Chief Brett Basham and water department head, Francis Gonce.

In a long distance telephone conversation Mr. Crawford stated that the actual laying of new pipe lines would begin on Dec. 5. The project is scheduled to be completed in four and one half months after actual work is started.

Five new fire hydrants are to be located on the main drive which encircles the campus, starting at the 15th street entrance in front of the Library. A hydrant will be placed between the Library and the Administration Building. One will be located near the side entrance to Potter Hall on the Park-

Friends and relatives of Western students or graduates who died while in the service of their country in time of war are requested to send the names to Miss Elizabeth Coombs, Kentucky Library, Western Kentucky State College, Bowling Green, Kentucky, so that these names may be included on a bronze memorial plaque which is being prepared for installation in the Memorial Room of the Garrett Student Center.

"The Show Off" Scheduled November 14th And 15th

The first production of the Western Players' new season will be "The Show-Off" to be presented in Van Meter Auditorium on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, November 14 and 15. It's a rare comedy that continues to be popular on the American stage for more than 25 years. Only two have emphatically remained great favorites for as long as that. One is "Charley's Aunt," and the other is the uproariously mirthful play called "The Show-Off."

George Kelly, author of "The Show-Off," is a member of the famous Philadelphia Kelly family. His brother, Walter Kelly, became famous during vaudeville days as the "Virginia Judge." Another brother, John B. Kelly, a well-known building contractor and leader in Democratic politics in Philadelphia once ran for mayor of that city. John Kelly's daughter, Grace Kelly, is the well-known motion picture actress whose marriage in 1956 to the Prince of Monaco made international headlines.

Director Russell H. Miller has chosen from the personnel of Western Players Carol Anne Cheal, Bill Riggs, Sandra Dempsey, Barbara Burch, Joe Hayes, Ed Rander, Joe Harris, Don Buckalew, and Ted Urban the average Americans with whom Kelly has peopled his play.

"The Show-Off" was first presented in New York in 1924, when it became the greatest hit for its time, running for what was then the extraordinarily long engagement of 571 performances. Since then it has had two successful Broadway revivals, also has survived three movie versions, and a TV production. Its amusing characters have helped such theatrical personalities as Lee Tracy, Red Skelton, Marjorie Main, Ford Sterling, and Jackie Gleason to enhance their reputations as comics.

Until the coming of "The Show-Off" the heroes of all comedies had their adventures told on the stage according to the old George M. Cohan formula, "In the first act, get your hero up a tree; in the second act, throw rocks at

An Investment That Pays

"An investment in knowledge," said wise old Benjamin Franklin, "always pays the best dividends." In case any modern youth thinks Benjamin Franklin was talking through his hat, please listen to a modern scientist, Dr. Paul C. Glick, of the Census Bureau.

Dr. Glick recently computed the lifetime earnings of Americans who had dropped out of school at various years. Some stopped after one to four years of grammar education. Others finished eighth grade, etc. Dr. Glick's data are listed in the next paragraph:

EDUCATION	EARNINGS
4th grade	$ 72,000
8th	$116,000
12th grade	$165,000
Part college	$165,000
College graduate	$268,000

If you quit school now, for example, to earn enough money to buy an old jalopy, you will punish yourself for all the years to come, for you will deprive yourself of more than $100,000 which you might have earned if you had gone on through college.

"Oh my jalopy will cost only $500," you might argue.

But that jalopy will cost you maybe $100,000. Don't be a modern Esau who sells out his future for a temporary pleasure that tickles the fancy today. Remember, there are a lot of tomorrows stretching out ahead.

The average high school graduate nowadays has approximately sixty additional years of longevity before him. How much leverage would your jalopy exert in prying loose a good job ten years hence when you are married and have several children to support?

"Boss, I have a ten-year-old jalopy," you might hopefully exclaim, "so please consider me for the job that is open."

The boss would doubtless consider you more than stupid, wouldn't he?

"Boss, I am a college graduate and can show you my diploma," you might far more profitably boast.

Notice that the college graduate had a lifetime income of $268,000 against $165,000 for the fellow who quit after high school.

That means you get $100,000 in later life for those four years in college. Each year is thus equal to $25,750 in hard cash. Be smart. Don't cheat yourself and your future family out of this much greater cash income.

Looking Backward

ONE YEAR AGO Dean Grise hands gavel to president Thompson — President Thompson resigns as tournament manager of the K.I.T. — Linda Stewart, a senior at College High, is chosen D.A.R. citizen of the year — Industrial Arts instructors attend the 14th annual Arts Teacher Training Conference at Murray — Eagles soar over Toppers, 19-7 — Betty Webb and George Reecer lead "Male Animal" cast.

NINETEEN YEARS AGO — Program for Dads Day is announced. More books given to Kentucky Library — T.P.I. hands Western season's first loss.

By Jim Owens

Co-eds, now is your chance! Follows, wouldn't it be great if it were like this all the time? (The girls "hustlin'" instead of the guys?) What would a person think if he came to the WKSC campus on a future date and saw the girls dressed as Dogpatch characters, chasing and catching the boys, calling for the boys at the dorm, cutting in on other girls to dance with that "cutie", etc. Such a thing is not a dream, for it will become a reality on Friday, November 9, when Sadie Hawkins Day will be sponsored by the Junior Class. The Sadie Hawkins Race and Dance will highlight the day.

The dance will be in Paul Garrett Student Center from 8:00 to 12:00 p.m., admission $1.00 per couple. Dress — Dogpatch style. Everyone should be dressed to look like Daisy Mae, Moonbeam, L'Abner, Tiny, Papa Yokum, Ma, or any of the other celebrities of the famed metropolis of Dogpatch, because a prize will be given to persons who are the best-dressed. Kick-a-poo joy juice will be served. There will be a dance combo to furnish the music, and during intermissions, square dancing will be enjoyed.

The details of the race are not yet completed, but in all probability it will start on the football field. Permission will be granted to chase "Your dreamboat" into Potter Hall should he seek a haven there. The boys will have to run backwards or they will in some manner be impeded, because let's face it, guys—we are faster than the weaker sex.

Marryin' Sam will be present to issue a temporary marriage license (ticket to dance) when "yore catch" is dragged across the finish line. Other details relative to the race will be publicized at a later date. All students are asked to cooperate to the fullest degree in order to make the race successful. Wear your Dogpatch costumes in the race if possible. If for some reason you cannot participate in the race, nab that guy someplace else during the day and come to the dance.

This reversed procedure of girl-pursue-boy has many advantages for both sides. Don't be timid and "chicken out." Much fun is in store for everyone. This takes place the night before Western's last home football game, therefore, everyone should be staying here for the week-end. STAY HERE, SUIT-CASE!

Kentucky Building News

Among several manuscripts recently presented to the Kentucky Library by Miss Sallie Martin of Logansport, was the contract for a private school which was conducted by her kinsman, Vincent S. Hay, of Butler County, in 1929. He later became a well-known lawyer in this part of the state. The paper presents such a contrast to the education of today, that it seems worth-while to print it in full.

"An article of agreement, made and entered into between Vincent S. Hay, of the one part, and we, the undersigned subscribers of the other; witnesseth that whereas the above mentioned Hay doth agree to teach school for the term of twelve months, (with the exception of Saturdays, half the holidays, and a vacation of two weeks at the expiration of six months). The said Hay proposes to teach the following branches of education, Vis-Orthography, Penmanship, Reading, Arithmetic, English Grammar and Geography. In consideration of which, we, the said subscribers do bind ourselves to pay unto said Hay, the sum of eight dollars for each scholar we may subscribe, payable in the following manner: 1/4 cash, the balance in good produce, such as corn, cotton, sugar, linen, salt or wool, to be paid quarterly and delivered at the Widow Hay's or James D. Hill's, and work will be received in part payment of the first quarter. In witness whereof we the said subscribers have hereunto set our names. The school will commence as soon as Mr. Romans' school shall have ended. This 7th Jan. 1829."

The subscribers names, signed on the back, were as follows: William McKenney, William Hill, James D. Hill, Thomas Johnston, William Davey, Samuel Kitchens, Charles Gray, Thomas Kitchens, Daniel Batey, Margaret M. Oats (to be paid in sewing or a good beef cow in the fall), Peter Smith, Thomas Berry and Elijah Porter.

Mrs. S. H. Brown, a resident of Bowling Green, has recently placed several interesting items in the Museum. One is an old globe, more than one-hundred years old, which was bought by her grandfather Richard Winn Courts, of Russellville.

Mrs. Brown also donated an old sewing machine cabinet, which was originally owned by the family of Miss Sadie F. Price, noted botanist and painter, of Bowling Green. Mrs. Brown bought it at a sale of the Price family in 1902.

Another unusual item from Mrs. Brown is a shaving stand, which was originally owned by Preston J. Brown, who was an ancestor of the donor's husband. Mr. P. J. Brown came from England and settled at Elkhorn, Ky.

Miss Sallie Martin, of Logansport, has given many family relics to the Museum recently. One is a powder horn, used by Vincent S. Hay, well-known lawyer in Butler and Warren counties, during the Civil war. Another is a dinner horn, used by Mrs. Rebecca Hay Gray. It served instead of the customary dinner bell. And finally, Miss Martin included an old writing portfolio, also owned by Vincent S. Hay.

Book Marks

With election day just around the corner, interest can be directed to new books about the candidates and the major National parties.

In 1955, Dean Acheson's "A Democrat Looks at His Party," was published. This year A Republican Looks at His Party, by Arthur Larson, Under Secretary of Labor, was issued. These books, by men of cabinet experience, are provocative reading for adherents of both parties.

Another title of recent publication is The Fabulous Democrats, by David L. Cohn, which presents in text and pictures a history of the Democratic Party.

A biography of a president is often indirectly a history of his party, and Merlo J. Pusey in his book, Eisenhower, the President, has attempted to chronicle the chief events of the Eisenhower years, showing the policies of the President and how he works.

James Leigh in This is Nixon has written about the "most controversial" figure on the political scene. Much of this book is actually written by Mr. Nixon, presenting his views on important issues.

What I Think, by Adlai Stevenson, includes about thirty speeches delivered since 1953 on nearly all important issues of recent date. Though a serious book, Mr. Stevenson's wit sparkles at intervals.

Since nominated by the Democratic Party as candidate for vice-president, Mr. Kefauver has been the subject of numerous magazine articles, readily available through periodical indexes.

Musical Notes

Officer's of the Music Educator's Club elected at the last meeting are Joe Lippo, president; Carolyn Ford, vice-president; Elaine Kelly, secretary; and Jean Jennings, treasurer.

Goblins and treasure seekers scouted the campus last Wednesday night on occasion of the Department's Halloween party and treasure hunt. Credit for organizing the annual fall get-together of music students goes to Miss Neil Gooch Travelstead.

Last Friday two carloads of students composed of members of the Western Band went to Louisville to hear a concert by the famous Carlini Band. This Italian band which is stationed in Rome has been widely acclaimed as one of the two or three best bands in the world. The colorful costumes, unusual instruments, and wonderful concert presented made it a memorable occasion.

HILLTOPICS

By BETTY SPRADLYN

Many of us, I am sure, let our thoughts wander back to Homecoming still. We remember what a success it was. The thrill of seeing all our old friends again, the victorious game, the bonfire and dances, not leaving out the reception and luncheons and breakfasts—all these things that make us wish that every week-end were Homecoming.

It was a Homecoming comparable only to one that a 50th Anniversary should be. Never to be forgotten was the beauty of it—the parade with its many floats, the weather during the game, music by the Red and Grey Orchestra at the dances, and last but not least the crowning of the Homecoming queen, Miss Shirley Barnes of Beaver Dam. Flanked by the bands of Western and Eastern, the military units and the lovely attendants, Jane Lovell, of Morganfield and Phyllis Robinson, of Hazard. The ceremony could not have been more impressive.

We hope the alumni and former students who returned had as wonderful a Homecoming as we, the students, did, and will return again next year to help us celebrate our 32nd annual Homecoming.

Hilltopico

You 'Ll Abner fans are in for a rare treat next Friday because right here on our campus there will be a real honest to goodness Sadie Hawkins Day race. For those of you who are not up to date on the Al Capp creation, the race is where girls, dressed in the traditional Dogpatch fashion, get a chance to nab that guy they've been eyeing all year. For more details, read the article telling about the race and the big dance that night on this page.

Hilltopico

The first concert in the series presented by the Community Concert Association will present baritone Thomas L. Thomas next Thursday November 8.

Hilltopico

As is in evidence around the Hill, new sidewalks are being added for our comfort and safety. As President Thompson announced in Chapel Wednesday the improvements being made will enable us to help keep our campus beautiful. For example, with the addition of the sidewalks, there will be no more cutting across campus. They will save us time and prevent any paths across the lawn.

The sidewalks near the gymnasium have been widened and a new sidewalk has been added in front of the Student Center at the snack bar entrance in order to prevent walking in the street which has been dangerous in the past.

President Thompson also announced that new fire hydrants would be situated around the campus to better protect the buildings and any occupants in case of fire. This project will begin the middle of this month and is only one on the agenda for making Western's campus one of the most beautiful in the South.

Congress Debate Club Activities

With three meetings behind them and plans made for the future, the Congress Debate Club is off to another successful year. The club has eight new members this year.

The program of the first meeting, held September 24, consisted of talks by four members on the presidential candidates and their main issues. On October 8, the club debated the Suez Canal crisis. Taking part were Ted Urban, Henry Stone, Robert Matheny, and Bill Page. At the last meeting on October 29, campaign speeches for both parties and their candidates were made. Speakers were Robert Matheny and Bill Short for the Republican Party with Jim Owens and Norman Lane for the Democratic Party.

Plans have been made for sponsorship of the Western Debate Tournament in cooperation with the Inter-collegiate Debate Squad, under the direction of Russell Miller. The date for this tournament has not been set.

Still in the planning stage is sponsorship of a political rally on election eve, November 5.

Seven new members have joined this year. They are Bill Chandler, Ted Urban, Pat Hooper, Robert Matheny, Henry Stone, Neil White, and Kenneth Williams.

Miss Stonecipher Speaks To English Club

Miss Sibyle Stonecipher, of the foreign language department, spoke to the English Club last night at the Kentucky Building.

Miss Stonecipher discussed her experiences and travels in Europe during the past summer.

After this informative program, a short business meeting was presided over by James Maple.

Western Players Review Activities

One of the largest clubs on the hill is the Western Players, with over one hundred members. This large membership is due mainly to the work put forth by the membership committee.

With such a large membership the Players is always active. Looking ahead on the calendar to early December, we find the Players engaged in the production of "Christmas In Two Keys," the second major production of the year. "Christmas In Two Keys" is divided into two parts, "Christmas Treat" and "The Tale Of A Shirt." The casts for both parts have been selected. The cast for "Christmas Treat" includes: Roy Gardner, Jane Lovell, Joyce Moser, Joan Heltley, Jo Ann Hall, Bill Hensley, Betty Gayle Jones, and Twilah Crowley. Mr. Miller selected as his assistants, Martha Garnett, Betty Sue Jones, and Joyce Mount. The cast for "Tale Of A Shirt" consists of Jean Reid-Smith, Pat Hooper, Naomi Dempsey, Carole Sue Snyder, Joan Goad, and Jim E. Durham. Assistant to Mr. Miller is William Coleman.

Halloween Special

Recalling some of the past activities, we see that the Players held its November meeting last Wednesday night. "Halloween Special" was presented by Ken Williams, Jean Reid-Smith, Ed Rander, Maurice Utley, Jane Lovell, and Joe Harris. A preview of "The Show-Off" was presented by the cast. After the preview, a short business meeting was held. After the business meeting, an informal party was held on stage. Dancing and refreshments were enjoyed by everyone. Postures a la Watson were told by Jean Reid-Smith.

Still further back on the calendar we find the Players entertaining the returning members of Western Players at a homecoming luncheon in the Helm Hotel. The guests included: J. C. Embry, Elizabeth McWhorter, Tom Robinson, Joan Yienst, James B. Jones, Shirley Fisher Holland, and James Henry Holland; Dean Grise, Mrs. Grise, Registrar Cannon, and Mrs. Cannon represented the faculty. Music was furnished during the luncheon by Miss Jane Goad.

Also a small group of Western Players took a field trip to Ryman's Theatre, October 17, at Nashville to see "The Best Of Steinbeck". Included in the group were Mr. Russell H. Miller, Betty Gayle Jones, Ann Meredith, Maurice Utley, Julian Steinbeck, and William Coleman.

Bond Issue Chapel Topic

"The Better Roads Bond Issue will cost Kentuckians a net cost of far less than nothing!"

These were the words of Dr. James W. Martin as he spoke at a recent Chapel session here. Dr. Martin, head of the University of Kentucky's College of Commerce used a four point outline to clarify this statement. He explained that there are certain problems to be considered before voting for or against the issue which would give Kentucky $90 million for road-building purposes.

1. The bond issue is an economic proposal rather than a party platform.

2. The people are voting on whether or not they should authorize the issuance of 10 million in bonds. The national government will grant nine dollars for every Kentucky dollar used for road building.

3. This proposal benefits every part of Kentucky, instead of only the main trunk - lines as many people may think.

4. The people of Kentucky will not be taxed one additional penny. Their tax money will pay the interest on the money being used to build and repair roads. This will go farther than if this money itself were to be used for construction work.

Justification of his opening statement came in Dr. Martin's summation: "With better roads, people will take more trips, thus they will use more gas. Because Kentucky has a two cent a gallon tax rate, this alone would pay for the bond issue, but here is more. Because of rising construction prices, at the rate of 3 1/2 per cent per year it would cost $190 thousand to build a bridge 20 years from now that would only cost $100 thousand now.

him; in the third act, get him safely down."

But Aubrey Piper, the braggart and thorn-in-the-side, who is to be played in "The Show-Off" by Clyde W. Riggs in the Western Players' version, is the kind of character that every theatre-goer has known in real life, and known as a pain in the neck, and so could laugh at his vainglorious struttings, delight in his descents into hot water, and enjoy seeing him humbled. He is not only truer than all previous kinds of heroes, he is funnier because he is more real.

In addition to Clyde W. (Bill) Riggs as the hearty back-slapping boaster of the title, Carol Anne Cheal as his acidulous-tongued mother-in-law is an even match for him with her perceptive practicality through the three acts. George Kelly draws his characters as a transcription of life in the Philadelphia he knew in the 1920's. The cast includes Barbara Burch as Piper's long-suffering wife, Sandra Dempsey as the understanding older sister.

Tickets for "The Show-Off" went on sale yesterday. They may be secured from members of Western Players and at the Bursar's office in Van Meter Hall where reserved seats for the Thursday evening performance will be available Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, November 13, 14, and 15.

Make your plans to meet "The Show-Off" on November 14 or 15 in Van Meter Auditorium at 8:15 P. M. He's "the TALK" of the town.

Cherry Country Life Club Has Winning Float

The officers for the coming year are as follows: Jim West, president; Joe Cheatham, vice president; Jim Burns, secretary; George Mobley, treasurer; Milton Campbell, reporter; Bob Murphy, sergeant-at-arms; Melvin Hargard, recreational director; William Moss, chaplain; and Bobby Wells, business manager.

The standing meeting date for the club is the third Tuesday night of each month.

The book concerns folkways of the people, especially the Ritchie family, in Viper, a small community in eastern Kentucky.

You'll say it's the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked!

Intramural Rifle Teams

For the past several days the sound of gunfire has been steadily coming from the ROTC department. The reason is that the new battalion intramural rifle meet is now in full progress. The teams are composed of men from the individual companies in the battalion, with each team firing one shoulder to shoulder match against each other team.

Any person who is a member of ROTC is eligible to participate in the intramural matches.

WHICH MAN PASSED THE N.P.* TEST?

*NINETY PERCENT

The poised, smartly-dressed man at the left of course. You can tell at a glance... and that's why the Ninety-Percent Test is so important. People judge you by what they see (sometimes that's all they have to go on) and ninety percent of what they see of you is what you wear. The fresh finish of drycleaned clothes is more than an extra touch... it's a flower in the buttonhole. It's an integral part of good grooming. The state of your clothes tells volumes about the kind of person you are. In fact, your clothes never stop talking about you. You buy your clothes to make a good impression. As you wear them, have them drycleaned often. A smart man takes care to keep that impression fresh.

Many Foreign Students Enrolled At Western

The fall semester has brought many new faces to Western's campus including two from China, two from Alaska, and one from India. There are those of Alice and Rosie Ling, now of Canada, Zena Hamilton and Jeanne Take of Fairbanks, Alaska, and Carol Wilkey of New Delhi, India.

Rosie Ling, a home economics major, did her high school work at Oneida Baptist Institute, spent two years at Bethel College, Hopkinsville, and is now enrolled at Western, where she plans to graduate. Her sister Alice, a science major, finished high school in Hong Kong, attended the University of Manitoba in Canada, and is now enrolled as a junior here at Western.

The Lings were forced to move to the British colony of Hong Kong because of Communist pressure. Their father, an eye specialist, had to come to Canada to secure a license to practice in the British empire. After securing the license, he chose to stay there and is now employed by the Canadian government. They plan to become citizens of Canada.

The Ling family still observes oriental customs in their home, including the use of chopsticks.

The students from Alaska are Zena Hamilton and Jeanne Take. Miss Hamilton, a foreign language major, has been in Alaska for the past seven years. Her parents, Robert and Edith Hamilton, were graduated from Western in 1931 and 1935 and are now employed as school teachers in Alaska.

Miss Take, a foreign language major, has spent seventeen of her eighteen years in Alaska. Jeanne's mother is from Scotland and her father from Washington.

Miss Carol Wilkey, a home economics major, has just returned from New Delhi, India, where she

Three Students Visit Foreign Countries

By Fred Wells

1st European: Western Kentucky State College. Isn't that the fine "Ivy League" school in the states? 2nd European: Why, yes, there were so many faculty members and students here this past summer that I thought the entire continent was a campus, with the Eiffel Tower representing Cherry Hall.

There is more truth than jest in this imaginary conversation. Western, with all of its European travelers, may be thought of as a stepping stone across the Atlantic to the culture of the "Old World".

Glenda "Windy" Winn, a Social Science major from Marion, toured Europe with her grandmother, Mrs. George Winn. They left the United States August 1, on the Queen Mary. After landing at Southampton, they traveled to London, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, Liechtenstein, Australia, Italy, France, and Monaco.

Visits Stratford-On-Avon In England, Windy visited Stratford-on-Avon, the birthplace of William Shakespeare. She was very fortunate in that she was able to see the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace. Before they left England, they visited Warwick Castle where they saw paintings by Van Dyck, Rubens, Lely, and Holbein.

Windy's favorite city was Rome. While there, she visited the colosseum, the forums, and their beautiful ruins, the Catacombs and St. Peter's Cathedral. The last week of her vacation was spent in Paris, where she saw the Church of Notre-Dame, the Eiffel Tower, and the Tomb of Napoleon.

But alas, all good things must end, and Windy and the Queen Elizabeth docked in New York on September 25. She now has caught up with her school work and has

Social Service Club Elects Officers

The Social Service Club held its first meeting of the fall semester Tuesday, September 25, at the Paul L. Garrett Student Center.

Hill Storde was elected president; Doris Steele, vice-president; Janet Madden, secretary; and Fred Dow, treasurer.

The purpose of the club is to aid various welfare agencies in Bowling Green. Civic organizations frequently call on the club for assistance toward their various charitable pursuits.

Civic and business leaders are often guest speakers at the club meetings, and the members gain valuable experience by discussing true case studies of juvenile delinquents with them.

Membership is open to anyone having an interest in this type of work.

settled down to Ivy League life, the "Western Way".

Each summer, the Baptist Student Union of Kentucky, and many other states in the south, sponsor a program of sending interested college upper classmen to the various mission fields to work in Vacation Bible Schools and to help with a general church program.

Kentucky's representative to the Hawaiian Islands for last summer was Mae Swinney, a senior at Western. She spent nine weeks in the Islands working on the islands of Oahu and Lanai. Five weeks of the time were spent in Vacation Bible School work, two weeks in camps, and one week helping in a revival.

The summer was really an experience in public relations. In the first assignment, for example, working with a group of twenty-four children, there were seven nationalities represented, with members of practically all races present.

Western may be justly proud of Jeanette Yohe, a senior, from Franklin. Why? Jeanette was the only southerner to receive a scholarship given by the "Lutheran Student Association." This scholarship entitled her to be one of fifteen students from various parts of the country to tour Europe this past summer. These Americans were selected by scholastic rating and achievement. The purpose of the trip was to study Protestantism in Europe.

During the tour that began July 1, and ended August 30, Jeanette visited France, Germany, Austria, Sweden and Denmark. One week conferences with European students were held in Paris, Vienna, and West Berlin. These conferences were made up of lectures and discussion periods.

Jeanette greatly enjoyed a conference held in Germany that was attended by one hundred thousand students from Western and Eastern Germany. She overcame a great amount of her prejudices after talking to many of them about their religious beliefs in the face of Communism.

Jeanette thought that the Australian Alps and the city of Salzburg were the most beautiful places she saw. She was grateful to have the opportunity of meeting Europeans and learning a little more about their background and culture. No matter how beautiful Europe may be, Jeanette is happy to be back home at Western.

JUST MISSED—Eastern's Dave Bishop strains and bats away this Western pass aimed for Jackie Johnson (49) in the first half of the Homecoming game. The trailing Maroon is Gary Jump.

Tigers Thrash Toppers 42-0

A crew of speedy Memphis State backs ate up the turf Saturday night and capitalized on every break to maul the Hilltoppers 42-0.

The big breaks for the Tigers came in the form of three Topper punts averaging only 17 yards per try and two quick interceptions—all occurring deep in Topper territory. These early bad breaks coupled with Memphis' savage line put the Tennesseans on the road to their 42-0 Homecoming rout before 6,000 victory starved fans.

The Hilltoppers, obviously experiencing a big let down after their duel with Eastern, were never able to generate a major scoring threat after their attack bogged down on the Memphis 16 following a 50 yard ramble by fullback Rod Bagby early in the second period.

Memphis State, getting a quick jump, managed to generate their six scoring drives inside the Topper 40 yard marker after making their camp in Topper territory early in the first stanza. Overcoming the Topper weight advantage seemed to be no problem for the vicious Memphis line as they displayed some powerful blocking enabling the shifty Tiger backs to eat up the yardage — 321 of them for the record.

Surprisingly enough, it was a line-man, Sophomore guard Bob Lee, who proved to be the Hilltopper's chief nemesis for the night. The agile lineman snared two Topper

Holt Inspired Hilltoppers Cop Homecoming Tilt 14-6

By John Lyon

The name Bill Holt was still ringing in Western fans' ears long after the final whistle had blown ending Western's dramatic Homecoming victory over the Eastern Maroons 14-7. The big 200 pound Junior end subbing (no less) for injured

Mike Moriarty proved to be Western's Mr. Indispensable Saturday afternoon as he excelled in every statistical department. His tackling and air defense were nothing less than sensational. Holt's sterling defensive play included: nine tackles, nine assists, one pass interception and knocking down two passes in the end zone which were labeled for touchdowns.

The inspired Toppers ended their three year scoring drought against the Maroons early in the first quarter on somewhat of a freak play. The unorthodox play materialized after Western had penetrated deep into Eastern territory. Carrol Van Hoosier, off on a 20 yard jaunt, let the ball elude his clutching fingers on the eight where it scooted into the end zone and Sophomore guard Yogi Hardin, another defensive standout, slashed through and fell on it for a Western score. That precious score placed Yogi in the Toppers, rapidly widening touchdown parade. Brantley's conversion made the score 7-0 with 9 gone in the first quarter.

Then bedlam broke loose early in the second quarter when Van Hoosier's attempted first down pass was batted into the air on the Topper 18 and Eastern's quarterback Ronnie Poly grabbed the pigskin and romped into the end zone untouched. Hortonman getting two attempts at the cross bars via the penalty route missed on both with Joe Cunningham slashing through the line and looming over the ball on both kicks. Score 7-6.

Western roared back defiantly on the kickoff and needed only 3½ minutes to chalk up their second score. Chambliss returned the kick off to his own 34. Van Hoosier whipped a second down pass to that irrepressible Holt for the first down and Western was on the march. Delane Simpson ripped off the right side on a 13 yard jaunt for another first down setting up Carrol Van Hoosier's pass to end Joe Cunningham, a play which carried for 31 yards down to the Eastern 5. Simpson, a bruising Sophomore fullback, swept to the left end for the score. Brantley's second conversion gave the Toppers a commanding 14-6 edge.

The Hilltoppers, headed by Speer, Holt and Hardin, halted a late se-

Faculty Members Tour Europe During Summer

Want to go to Europe? A group consisting of Dr. and Mrs. V. Graham, Herman W. Lowe and Mrs. Lowe, and Dr. James H. Poter, head of the history department, have recently concluded an extensive tour of Europe.

The party departed from Bowling Green July 25 of this year. Upon arriving at New York City, they were flown by TWA directly to Paris, France. While in France, they visited such old historical sections as Brittany, Normandy, and the Chateau country. Upon leaving France, they proceeded to Switzerland where such famous cities as Bern, Zurich, Schaffhausen, and "Stein on the Rhine" were seen.

From Switzerland the group went to Vienna, Austria and from there directly to London, England and the British Isles. While in London they attended the opening performance of the play, Military Tattoo, and while there observed Queen Elizabeth and her Royal Party. During their stay in the British Isles, they toured Edinburgh, Aberdeen, and Inverness of Scotland.

The party arrived in the United States on September 5 of this year.

Another member of the Western faculty, Miss Sibyl Stonecipher of the foreign language department, spent the summer in Europe where, among other things, she attended the meeting of the International Federation of University Women which was held in Paris, France.

Miss Stonecipher left this country on June 29 and flew by SAS to Glasgow, Scotland. She then proceeded to Dundee where she visited a friend. Her next stop was South Wales. There she renewed acquaintance with an old friend, Gwendal Davis, who was an exchange teacher at the training school in 1953.

From South Wales, she went to London where she saw Wally Rath and Mrs. Rath. Mr. Rath is a past graduate of Western now stationed there with the Air Force. Miss Stonecipher flew from London to Rome. She spent several days seeing the sights before enrolling for the two weeks session of the Virgilian Society Summer School which is located near Naples. She also visited Florence, Venice, and Cortina while in Italy. She then went to Lienz, Austria, and from there to Aguntum where she visited the excavations of an old Roman military establishment. While in Austria she attended a Music Festival at Brignen on Bodensee (Lake Constance).

Arriving in Paris, France, she attended the meeting of the I. F. U. W. which is held triennially.

Miss Stonecipher then visited Germany where she toured the cities of Frier, Frankfurt, Munich, Keil, Hamburg, Göttingen and others. A very pleasant experience while she was in Germany was her visit with Chaplain and Mrs. James Coleman, both of whom are Western graduates.

At Frankfurt she was privileged to be among the 500,000 people attending services at Kirchentag, a great Protestant church rally.

Miss Stonecipher made her last stop at Amsterdam, Holland. There she viewed an exhibition of the famous Rembrandt paintings. She returned to Bowling Green Sept. 11.

Major Worshiem Speaks to Geography Club

Major Worshiem, of the Western ROTC Army unit, was the guest speaker at the second monthly meeting of the Geography club Thursday evening, October 25. He showed color slides on the living conditions of Korea and Japan.

Leon Dunnigan, of Louisville, was elected president for the coming year. Other officers, elected at an earlier meeting, are as follows: Carroll VanHoosier, vice-president, Jacquelyn Moss secretary, Ray Weaver treasurer, Montroe Holland sergeant at arms, and Jack Smith reporter. Dues were set at $6c a semester.

New Books Reviewed

By Robert Waters

When a writer can take a famous man out of the past and re-create him into a flesh-and-blood human being without losing the meaning of his story, he has written a good biography. This is what Arnold Strobe — Jackson has done in Kentucky Heyday. He has taken such famous Americans as Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson, Henry Clay and many others weaving their lives around that of Matthew Harris Jovett, forming a fascinating biographical novel.

Matthew Harris Jovett was Kentucky's first and most distinguished portrait painter. Born in Kentucky County, Virginia, and educated at Transylvania in Lexington, his life and the lives of those he painted unfolds on the pages of Kentucky Heyday. Each time he met a new and interesting personality — and he met many — Matt Jovett seemed to be able to catch that whole life with his brush. A list of those he painted is extensive and can be found in the book. Thomas Jefferson, Aaron Burr, Henry Clay, and George Rogers Clark all posed for him. Had he done only these he would have been renowned.

Arnold Strobe — Jackson, scholar, athlete, war hero, and author was educated in London. In 1920 he came to Louisville, where he served as a dramatic critic for the Courier — Journal. He is past secretary of the J. B. Speed Memorial Museum and lecturer on the history of art at the University of Louisville.

Kentucky Pride is a book about Kentuckians. It is a fast-moving, free-style novel dealing with the problems of a man who returns after four years in the Confederate army to find his home confiscated, his reputation gone, and the whole world, as he knew it, in ruins around him.

When Aiden Kensal saw his blue grass estate, Oakenden, for the first time in four years everything looked the same. Under the surface, however, Aiden saw at first hand the havoc a civil war can bring to a border state. Lexington, once as southern as Atlanta, had been occupied by Union troops for most of the duration of the war. His old friends are now his enemies and a bloody Council of Evil seeks to destroy him.

By an unsuspecting turn of events Aiden exposes the gang but not before being accused of murdering one of them. Now he has become the hunted. Finally Aiden meets his destiny—the love of the woman he loves and escape from the evil stalking him.

Gene Markey, the author, is a reconstructed Yankee born in Jackson, Michigan, in 1895. A veteran of both World Wars, Mr. Markey is a graduate of Dartmouth College. He is married to Lucille Parker Wright, the owner of Calumet Farm, Kentucky and its history have long been the absorbing interests in Gene Markey's professional life.

and quarter rally after Eastern had rammed their way to the Topper 27. Holt stalled the attack when he leaped into the end zone and batted down a fourth down pass attempt from Ronnie Poly to his right end.

Eastern made their most serious threat of the second half in the third quarter driving down to a first and goal on Western's nine yard line, but the Toppers failed to yield.

Hardin, Holt and Patterson pushed them back to the 16 and on third down Holt once again clamored into the end zone and knocked down a potential scoring pass. Patterson smeared Rodgers on the next play and Eastern had reached its final Cul-de-sac.

The Toppers weren't to be denied that Golden Anniversary Homecoming victory after suffering three straight losses at the hand of the Maroons.

Miss Shirley Barnes, a senior from Beaver Dam, was crowned 1956 Homecoming Queen in a beautiful halftime coronation ceremony. Dr. Robert Martin, of public instruction, assisted in the crowning of the Golden Anniversary Queen.

The toppers' inability to cope with the small and rugged line proved to be the big factor in the fracas as the Red and Gray was unable to mount a successful offensive.

College High Preps For Net Schedule

College High opens their regular basketball season against Park City Friday, November 16th in the big red barn at Western. The Cardinals will begin the long grind through the season without the services of David Denton, 1 a 1 years all state senior center, who cast his lot with Georgia Tech this season.

Last year's team, coached by Eddie Diddle Jr., won 19 and lost 5 and was one of the better ball clubs in the state. The Cardinals this year are coached by Al Almond, a Western graduate, who coached at Alton, Ky. last year. Coach Almond reports he is working with 16 boys on the varsity now but plans to cut the squad to 13 before the season opens. No starting lineup has been designated as yet. College High's 1956-1957 basketball schedule is as follows:

Nov. 16	Park City Home
Nov. 20	Allen County Away
Nov. 30	Campbellsville Home
Dec. 4	Richardsville Home
Dec. 7	Munfordville Home
Dec. 10	Russellville Away

Eight colleges have accepted invitations to participate in the Western tournament. These are Evansville College, Hanover College, Vanderbilt University, Tennessee Tech, Martin College (Pulaski, Tennessee), Middle Tennessee State, Indiana University, and Belmont College. The planning committee for the tournament includes Pat Hopper, trophies; Henry Stone, public relations; Ted Urban, campus announcements; Jim Owens, Harold Meers, and Clayton Shannon.

The topic for debate this year is RESOLVED, That the United States should discontinue direct economic aid to foreign nations. The second round of practice debates was held on Thursday evening October 25 in the Student Center. ing lot side. A new hydrant will be installed across from the main entrance to the Stadium and one will be placed behind the Cedar House. The three hydrants now located around the crest of College Heights near the water tower will remain. The water lines to the new hydrants will be six - inch lines and all existing four-inch lines will be increased to six-inch lines.

Heating Plant

er Henry Vogt 400 horse power boiler was installed about 1930. Then in 1937 one side of the brick building was removed and the two 200 horse power boilers were removed intact by Hearldson Brothers on low boys or trailers with State Highway permit to Murray State College to be installed in their heating plant. Since the 1937 flood put the penitentiary at Frankfort out of commission, the 500 horse power Sterling water tube boiler that was in use there was brought to and installed in Western's heating plant.

New Boiler Installed
Due to the addition of the new dormitories still more heat is needed. So in the summer of 1956, a 600 horse power Bockock Wilcock water tube boiler with chain grate stoker was installed to replace the 400 horse power boiler. In the entire operation of the heating plant, it was out of commission only one time in 1943 when the local electric power plant had a breakdown. The electricity was off for the entire city for 18 hours. During its heating season, the plant is run 24 hours per day and normally uses 5,500 tons of coal, which since 1944 has been delivered by truck from Butler County.

The part of the campus where the new dormitories for men are being built will be encircled by a new eight-line with two new fire hydrants. This new line will tie in with existing city water lines at the junction of Cherry Drive and the Russellville Road. It will extend down the Russellville Road to 16th Street and along 16th Street to Normal Drive. The new line will go up Normal Drive to a point across from the Industrial Arts building where it will tie in with a city water line. A fire hydrant will be placed on 16th Street at a point halfway between the Russellville Road and Normal Drive. The second new hydrant in this area of the campus will be located near the rear of the music building. These two hydrants are to provide fire protection for the new dormitories and the Music building.

All the new hydrants will be strategically located in order that maximum coverage may be accomplished by fire fighting equipment.

traditional Morrow manner, everything from the sweetest ballad to the strongest jump tune. Such features make the band a top crowd pleaser.

Morrow's band has set up a code of clean, listenable, danceable rhythms which is proving very popular with customers and critics alike. As Buddy puts it, "Do not try to educate the public from the bandstand, instead play the type music that they want to hear."

In addition to the fourteen piece band, Morrow will bring with him the lovely and talented vocalist Betty Anne Blake and her singing partner Larry Valentino. Also featured in the band is Dick Johnson, jazz saxophone star.

A limited number of tickets will go on sale Monday November 5, in the Garrett Student Center.

Cooper On Campus

Mr. John Sherman Cooper, Kentucky Republican candidate for the United States Senate, was on the Western campus Friday, October 18, during Homecoming weekend.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY $1.98

I met a man with a rather large head
Who looked at me and finally said:

"If ever you're caught
Without any thought
And you think that you ought
To be thinking a thought,
Buy one from me before it's too late.
'Thoughts for today, only one-ninety-eight."

"A reasonable price," I said and bought
The following brainy, thoughtful thought:

FAINT PLEASURE AIN'T PLEASURE!

Take your pleasure big! Smoke the cigarette that gives you more of what you're smoking for... more real enjoyment, more real rich flavor... more smoking satisfaction. Smoke a Chesterfield and enjoy it to the hilt!

Smoke for real... smoke Chesterfield!
